Building Future Innovation Ecosystems

Robert Turner

Innovation Ecosystem Building |
Technology Commercialization

ABOUT THIS TOP EXPERT

Robert Turner, an accomplished innovation strategist, currently oversees Technology Transfer and Innovation at Tennessee State University. With a history in building inclusive innovation ecosystems and driving social impact entrepreneurship, he merges go-to-market tactics and inclusive innovation for global economic expansion.

Collaborating across academia, government, and industry, he establishes sustainable high-growth ventures that tackle human development challenges. Having mentored over 100 entrepreneurs, he partners with esteemed organizations such as the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the National Society of Black Engineers to tackle strategic obstacles in regional economic development and technology commercialization.

MASTERCLASS AND LEARNING OBJECTIVES

This conference session explores the essential facets of crafting robust innovation ecosystems. Delving into the synergy between academia, industry, and government, we unveil insights into fostering environments that promote interdisciplinary interactions, knowledge sharing, and tech transfer.

Through real-world examples, we showcase how innovation hubs convert breakthroughs into market-ready solutions. Attendees will gain a thorough grasp of policy frameworks, funding mechanisms, and community engagement's pivotal roles in nurturing thriving innovation ecosystems.

Start With Why
